

Peeking over the Fence (The Bradford Exiles)

At Scott Tylers tenth class reunion, he and his wife Sonja didnt expect the class of the small rural high school to be very surprising. Hoping to be one of the more exotic couples there, they found the Bradford Class of 1988 had produced a millionaire prostitute with a PhD piloting her own Learjet, and another, a musician with a business card that read, Wandering Medieval Minstrel. Most surprising was a beautiful, personable blonde woman, Dr. Eve McClellan -- previously named Denis, one of the most disliked boys in the class. Scott and some of his classmates started thinking about the differences between men and women, and the upcoming Halloween party is a perfectly good excuse to explore a little of what its like on the other side of the gender fence.
